The Experimental:
Devon's Indie-Rock Trailblazers Step Into Their Next Chapter

— After storming onto the scene with their explosive debut album What Do We Want?, Devon's own indie-rock trio The Experimental are back in the studio recording their eagerly awaited second album. With a reputation for bold riffs, raw lyricism, and high-octane live shows, The Experimental continue to carve their place as one of the UK's most exciting rising acts.

Since their debut, Darren, Chris, and Joe have lit up stages across the UK and beyond, sharing bills with acclaimed names including Reef, The Hoosiers, and CJ Wildheart. Their drive to push boundaries has taken them across the Atlantic, where they filmed striking music videos for “Sirens” and “Vultures” on location in Las Vegas and California. While stateside, they also made their mark with a set at the legendary Kulak's Woodshed in Los Angeles.

With their sound built on soaring hooks, gritty coastal energy, and a fearless live presence, The Experimental's music channels the exhilaration of being fully alive. Their debut album What Do We Want? set the stage; their upcoming second album promises to expand their sonic horizons and capture the spirit of a band on the rise.
